

A Graduated Response

Taken from SEND: the things and the stuff - A go to mini guide

Central to this process is the important and on-going process of testing a hypothesis. It is essential that we constantly ask ourselves:

- What do we know about this pupil?
- What have we already tried?
- What does and does not work for them?
- What is the possible cause of their difficulties?

